R. C. SKINNER,
SURGEON DENTIST, &c.
RESPECTFULLY informs the citizens of Alexandria and its vicinity, that his concerns at Washington requiring his continuance at or near that city until the next session of Congress, proposes to attend to his professional business in this town until the 20th of May. The superior manner in which he inserts Teeth in the human head, their perfect natural appearance, and the ease his operations are invariably performed in, are objects worthy the attention of those persons who have been so unfortunate as to lose their front teeth. To those persons whose teeth are partially decayed, or are covered with the sceptic acid, or tartar, he will only observe that immediate relief may be obtained, and their teeth preserved, [free from pain] during life. His regular apprenticeship, long practice, and superior recommdations, (it is presumed) will entitle him to the confidence of those that require his assistance.
Dr. SKINNER may be consulted any hour at Mr. Milburn's, sign of the Golden Ball, Union-street.

Political Satire.—The following is one of the queerest things in this line that we have ever met with.

From the Reporter, printed at Brattleboro. Vermont.

FAMILY MATTERS.

Thomas being thus palmed upon the family as overseer, after treacherously supplanting John, it may be proper to notice him the more particularly.

Considering himself at liberty to dispose of the income of his place according to the dictates of his own partialities and prepossessions, he soon instituted a correspondence with the hostile family, before mentioned, for the purchase of a certain straw bed, about which there had been some dispute between the two families. There was some opposition to this purchase for two reasons.

1st. The family had already more beds then they could make use of, even when they were crowded with visitors.

2d. They had moreover a lease of the bed in question, to use it whenever they had occasion therefor; so that the purchase would only be wasting time and money to obtain what they already had an undoubted right to, and afterwards would be as much liable to quarrel for it as if they should not make the purchase, and perhaps the more so, because they might be considered cowards, which always leads to aggression. Thomas, however, willing to dispose of money which he had not earned, rather than displease the other family, who also wore the tri-colored cockade, freely paid over to them 13,000,000 of loose change, which happened to be left in the desk by his frugal predecessor.—— Sometime after this it was rumoured that there was no bedstead included in the purchase. So Thomas took out two millions more to complete the bargain, but not having occasion for its immediate use, he undoubtedly turned the money into another channel. Thomas fearing some disaster might happen to his new bed, dispatched James, a mighty boxer, with a triangular cap on, to strike terror into any mischievous fellows who might attempt to tear his bed tick, and pull out the straw, or in any way offer it violence. James was to stand on the western bank of the river Mississippi, extending his arm with clenched fist, towards the wind, from what quarter soever it might blow, and to see that no straw should be wasted. To compensate him for this service, James was to have two hundred and twenty five dollars per month, and find himself. But James knowing Thomas to be a fellow, intimated to him that he wanted a little more to buy stomachics on so windy an enterprize. So Thomas sent him, in what is called a skinner purse, about fifty thousand pieces of change, as a present like. So James took the money which Thomas had sent him, and laid it all out in sweet-flag root, which, by huge mouthfuls, he ate up clean in about four months, to the great terror and consternation of all around him. And his enemies with horrid petrification, gazed on the straw bed and dared no more touch it than they dared to commit sacrilege. Thomas evinced all along a servile attachment to the very family which had so much piqued at his own, and endeavored to entangle in its quarrels, insomuch that he made them a present or two which might be of great use in manufacturing shirts, and so prevent them from going naked into the presence of th widow, with with whom they were then a[e] war [t]

By some misunderstanding, between Thomas and the widow, on account of his partiality towards her enemies, they became deprived of that profit which arose from the mutual use of the estate, and, although she offered Thomas fair terms for an accommodation, he utterly refused, without even taking the opinion of any of the heirs who were equally concerned. Such unwarrantable conduct brot great distress on the family, for they had placed great dependence on exchanging articles with the widow, and Thomas now forbid them, and, as they had chosen him their overseer, they considered themselves under some obligations to obey him, though he evidently assumed more power than they had ever delegated to him. For they only meant to have had their overseer regulate their modes of traffic—not prohibit it entirely. Some of the family about this time, from the frequent use of stimulating washes, had, in a good measure, recovered their sight; and to their astonishment, found they had been grossly deceived in believing Thomas to be the likeness of George: And they beheld the government which had been strained on him to deceive them, and it was rent throughout, so as by no means to conceal his nakedness. And when they saw the idol whom they had served, and in whom they had placed their confidence, they clothed themselves in sackcloth, and mourned bitterly for many years.

STAUNTON, May 3.

REPUBLICAN DINNER.

It having been understood on Friday last that the Hon. JOSEPH LEWIS (the only genuine republican member of Congress from this state for a number of years past) was in town; in testimony of their respect for, and approbation of, his firm and patriotic conduct in opposing the various war-measures of Giles and his party, during the last session of Congress, the Federal Republicans of Staunton and its vicinity invited him to dine the day following at the Wayne Tavern.

At 3 o'clock, preparations having been made by capt. Chambers, a numerous and very respectable company sat down to an elegantly furnished table. We were happy to recognize the different denominations of the reverend clergy of the town, and our newly elected representative the hon. Jacob Swoope. After the cloth was removed, Alexander St. Clair, Esq. having been chosen president, and Joseph Bell, sen. Esq. vice-president, the following TOASTS were drank:

1. The United States of America—
Health to the body politic, in its head and in its members.

2. The memory of George Washington—
Author of our Liberty, founder of the Republic, and father of Federalism.

3. Our Sisters of New-England, and their virtuous Sons.

4. The Army and Navy of the U. States—
Annihilation, or more useful and honorable employment than enforcing the mandates of domestic tyranny.

5. The Chief Justice of the United States and his venerable associates.

6. The storms in the East—
They purify our atmosphere without destroying our dwellings.

7. Agriculture and Commerce—
Virginia and New-England.

8. Federalism—
The only aristocracy it tolerates is that of wisdom and virtue; the only equality it opposes, that of folly and vice.

9. The minority of the last national legislature—
Congress would not listen to their speeches, but the people have been convinced by their arguments.

10. Elections—
Let them be free expressions of the public will—governors in their chairs, and judges on their benches.

11. The sun of federalism—
It hath not set; but hath risen in the east, and the people of the south have been gladdened by its rays.

12. Jefferson's administration—
Like the unfinished castle of Monticello, displaying expensive economy, unpracticable theory, and versatile design.

13. The Spaniards—
May every patriot's bullet be winged with death.

14. The knight of the golden spurs—
Wise, in well attending to the equipment of his heels.

15. *The counties of London and Augusta—
Many have done well, but ye have exceeded them all.

16. Don Quixotte—
* * * * * * *
* * * * * * *

17. Peace on earth, and good will to all men.

VOLUNTEERS.

By Carter Beverley, Esq.
Our Eastern States—May their Federal Representatives hail with joyous looks and gladden'd hearts the return of their Sister Virginia to the principles of the good old school: and fraternise cordially with the minority in Congress in restoring our country to the highest honors and dignities.

By the Hon. Joseph Lewis,
The Staunton District—May the spirit which produced its reformation, pervade the state.

By the hon. Jacob Swoope,
Commerce and Agriculture—the prosperity of the Handmaid depend upon the freedom of the Governess.

* Loudon, the residence of Mr. Lewis, celebrated for its adherence to Federalism—and Augusta, the residence of Mr. Swoope, which has followed the example.

FOREIGN.

(VIA BOSTON.)

The French papers say, that the Russians have taken the Swedish island of Aland, within 75 miles of Stockholm.

It is said the French despaired of being able to subdue Cadiz. Nature and art had rendered it so strong.

Napoleon having appointed Murat king of Naples, the latter resigned the duchy of Berg; which the Emperor has since given to his nephew the infant Napoleon Louis, son of the king of Holland—the Emperor to govern it till the infant is of age. Napoleon has given the government of Tuscany to the princess of Lucca and Piombino.

BRUSSELS, Feb. 10.

The fleet at Flushing lies in the inner harbor, sufficiently protected by a numerous artillery. It consists of twelve sail of the line, and considerable number of cutters, brigs, gondolas, luggers, gun boats, &c. It will get fresh reinforcements in the spring as the six ships of 80 guns, will then be ready to join them from Antwerp, which they were building with great activity in 1808, so that the Flushing fleet will be a very formidable one.

Private letters from France continue to assure us that a great maritime coup de main is to be made by the French fleet in Flushing in the course of next spring, when, as these reports state, a junction between the Russian and French marines, with the small armaments of Denmark, is to be effected, for the purpose of executing a settled plan of operations of a naval and military campaign, the object of which, however secretly concealed, may, however, be guessed.

More than 5000 seamen from the Hans Towns, Denmark, the coasts of Pomerania and the Baltic, have been enlisted in the Flushing fleet of the French marine, to serve in this enterprize.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Jan. 27.

The ball given by the Austrian internuncio, on the marriage of one of his suite, has involved him in a serious quarrel with the legations of France, Holland, Spain, and Saxony. On the preceding evening, M. Latour Maubourg, charge d'affairs of France, demanded of the internuncio whether any Englishmen or Spanish insurgents would be admitted. If that were the case, he gave notice that he should not only refrain from coming himself, but should prohibit all communication between the subjects of his master and the Austrian embassy.—The internuncio replied that this was not to be considered as a ministerial ball, and that all persons who would do him the honor to come, should be well received. This reply not being satisfactory to M. Latour Maubourg, he carried his threats into execution.

The ministers of Holland, Spain & Saxony took the same step; so that the Austrian embassy is placed in the same situation as if the emperor of Austria were at war with all these powers. It is uncertain what turn this affair will take, but it is evident that it will be referred for the decision of the respective courts.

COPENHAGEN, March 4.

A courier has arrived here from Norway, with extraordinary rapidity, and returned again immediately. It is believed he brought some information of great importance.

BY THE LAST MAIL.

BOSTON May 4.

Lateſt from England.

The following articles are extracted from a letter received by the editors of the Palladium, from their correspondent at Halifax, dated April 27.

"the ship Mary, Ford, arrived yesterday from Liverpool, in 31 days. She brings London papers to the 23d ult.

"The duke of York, though supported by his numerous friends in the house of Commons, has found it most prudent to resign the office of commander in chief. This resignation has been accepted by his majesty.

"The Peacock sloop of war, from Lisbon, fell in with the Fisgard frigate from Cadiz, 24th February, and informed, that in the insurrection which lately took place at Cadiz, don Juan Herida, was killed on the 22d—that the marquis de Villel, representative of the supreme junta at Cadiz, was closely confined in the Capuchan Priory; and that general Caraffa was in hourly expectation of death—that the English were in high favor, and the Spaniards anxious for the British troops to land, that the people were much dissatisfied with their leaders, and full of enthusiasm against the French.

LONDON GLOBE-OFFICE.
March 23, 2 o'clock, P. M.

The Telegraph has just announced, that a courier is on the road with important dispatches from Spain, who may arrive in town in the course of the day.

"Government have received dispatches by the Statira and Peacock, communicating the favorable appearance in Spain."

"The French have been driven out of Vigo by the inhabitants, en masse, with bayonets daggers, bludgeons, &c. Great numbers were massacred.

"The reports of Austria opposing France seem to gather strength—though no act of hostility has taken place. Russia still keeps aloof, undetermined whether to join Austria or France in the new war.

"Further reinforcements are to be sent to the south of Spain.

"Bonaparte was in Paris at the last dates.

"Sir David Dundas holds the office of commander in chief, at present; though it is highly probable, that the office will, in a short time, be put in the hands of commissioners, somewhat similar to the admiralty."

"Regular convoys are established by the admiralty to and from North America, to sail from England 20th March, April 10, May 10, June 10, July 10, August 5: and from Halifax and Quebec, 15th of each month to October. Also from Halifax to the West-Indies, windward, leeward, monthly, and back again."

PHILADELPHIA, May 6.

A letter from a gentleman in Baltimore, who has access to the best information, says, that gen. Turreau has received dispatches by the Esperance, but the nature of their contents had not transpired. This much, however, has been ascertained, that the gen. is to return to France, and to be succeeded by a new minister, who is to come out to this country with full powers to arrange every existing difference between the two governments.

We have been favored with the perusal of the letter alluded to. The contents are in substance as follow:

"Baltimore, May 4.

"Turreau is here: also Mr. Erskine.—Although negotiations are on foot, they are not likely to terminate until the ultimatum of our government is known to France, and a vessel is to be immediately dispatched therewith. Of this Mr. Smith, the secretary of state, gave Mr. Turreau yesterday official notice, offers to take any dispatches for him.

"Turreau is recalled, and another minister is coming out to succeed him. A government vessel sails immediately hence, it is supposed for England as the [American] dispatches for the British ship Rosamond, arrived at Norfolk six hours after she had sailed. Turreau's expectation is, that the negotiations will terminate favorably."

May 8.

Yesterday arrived the Spanish brig Palafox, Drago, 14 days from Havanna, with 35 French passengers, once more drove to take security under the vine and fig tree of the United States.

By her we learn that the insurrection of the rabble was so much quelled by government, that those that had not embarked were in some manner safe, till they could get an opportunity to leave the Island, which they were all doing as fast as possible.

The ship Humphries, for New-York, and a Spanish brig for this port with French passengers, both sailed in company with the Palafox.

Flour was selling at Havanna for twenty-two dollars, with the duty, and ten dollars without; for exportation, it would bring 12 dollars.

All foreigners of every description, except English and Americans, are ordered to quit the Island of Cuba, great numbers of which have sailed for different parts of the United States.

BALTIMORE, May 8.

Arrived, schr. Experiment, Hill, 10 days from Porto Rico. Left among a number of others, brig Elizabeth, Tredwell, for New York, in 6 or 7 days; Aurora, Pickle, Philadelphia. uncertain; George, Smith, do. 6 or 7 days; Elizabeth, Morton, Baltimore uncertain; Spanish schr. Rosa, Aquina, loading for St. Barts to sail in four days—Passed a white bottomed ship off the capes bound in.

Also ship Rossie, Davis, 13 days from Laguira. Left there 23d of April, brig Female, Reed, for Baltimore same day; brig Expectation, Turner, Philadelphia,

...h May; brig Jane, Smart, New York, ...certain; schr. Fairplay, Grinalds, Alex...ria 3 days; schr. Liberty, Holbrook, in ... days; sloop Phœbe, Kelly, of Rhode ...and, for Norfolk, in 2 days, spoke no...ge.

Schooner West Indian, Veazy, 9 days ...m Cape Francois. Passed an English ...coming into the capes.

Philadelphia, 6th May, 1809.

His Britannic majesty's consul general for the middle and southern states of America, upon the approaching renewal of the commercial intercourse between Great Britain and the U. States, thinks it expedient for the information of the merchants trading thither to re-publish the annexed notification of the regulations of quarantine, the forms of certificates, required by his majesty's Orders in Council, and the penalties to be incurred by neglect or disobedience of the same.

P. BOND.

Philadelphia, Oct. 22, 1805.

His Britannic majesty's consul general for the middle and southern states of America, having lately received copies of an act passed in the last session of parliament "for making further provision for the effectual performance of quarantine," and of of his majesty's Orders in Council of the 5th April last, containing the regulations of quarantine, together with the forms of declarations and the certificates required by the 42d section of that order, and an abstract of the quarantine regulations, and the penalties to be incurred by neglect or disobedience of the same;—In pursuance of the instructions he has received from his government, takes this method of making it generally known among the merchants of the U. States, that all the goods enumerated in the first class of that order, intended to be imported after the 1st February 1806, into any port or place in G. Britain, or the Islands of Guernsey, Jersey, Alderney, Sark or Man, from any port or place on the continent of America, must be accompanied with the declarations, certificates and bills of health, required by that section of the order, or the ship or vessel importing the same, and the goods on board such ship or vessel, will be subject to the rules of quarantine, and will be obliged to perform the same, according to the directions of that order.

For the more satisfactory information of the merchants trading to G. Btitain, the articles enumerated in the first class of his majesty's Order in Council are subjoined.

- Apparel of all kinds
- Artificial Flowers
- Bast, or any article made thereof
- Beads, bracelets, or necklaces in strings

- Yarns of all sorts

And all other goods whatsoever, if they shall have arrived in, or with packages consisting wholly, or in part of any of the articles above enumerated, unless such goods shall be removed from such packages.

And further it is requisite that such declarations recite in words at length and in continuity the several goods and articles to be sworn to by the owner and proprietor, before some magistrate of the port or place from which such vessel shall clear out, to be attested by such magistrate in the form prescribed, and also by his majesty's consul or vice-consul, at such port or place, or in case there shall be no such consul, or vice-consul, then by two known British merchants residing there.

P. BOND.

The masters of British vessels are desired to deposit their Mediterranean passes in the office of his Britannic majesty's consul general.

Extract of a letter from New Orleans, dated April 4.

"The embargo was raised here on the 31st ultimo, and the non-intercourse law received at the same time. But little speculation has been the result; and no shipments of any magnitude have as yet been made.

"About 2600 troops have arrived by sea and land, and more are expected. Nearly 350 of the troops are already on the sick list; and I suppose by the 1st of October the whole of them (if not previously dispatched to a more healthy climate) will go to their long homes.

"The Sabine hero (Wilkinson) has not yet arrived."

FALL OF SARAGOSSA.

The following is an extract from Bonaparte's XXXIII bulletin. The Emperor is not famous for veracity, but in giving credit to his enemies we need not suspect him of exaggeration. Our readers have here a picture of unconquerable patriotism, and persevering heroism, which has few parallels if any, in history. It cannot be read without admiration.——[Boston Repertory.

On the 26th, the city was severely attacked, and the batteries were unmasked. On the 27th, at noon, the breach was practicable on several points. The troops lodged themselves in the convent of San-in-Gracia. The division Grandjean occupied about 30 houses in the city. Col. Chlopisek, and the soldiers of the Vistula, distinguished themselves. At the same time, the gen. of division Morlot, in an attack on the left, possessed himself of the whole front of defence of the enemy.

Capt. Guetteman, at the head of the pioneers, and of 36 grenadiers, mounted the breach with a rare intrepidity. Mr. Bobieski, an officer in the Vistula Rangers, a young man of only 17 years of age, and having already received seven wounds, was the first who entered the breach. The chiefs of battalion Lejeure, aid-de-camp to the prince of Neufchatel, and Haxo, behaved well, and were both slightly wounded.

On the 20th, the convents of St. Monique, and the Great Augustines, were carried, as were 60 houses taken by pioneers. The sapeurs of the 14th regiment of the line, distinguished themselves.

On the 1st February, general Lacoste was struck with a musket ball, and died on the field of battle. He was a very brave & distinguished officer. His loss has been much felt by all the army, but more particularly by the Emperor. Col. Rognat succeeded him in the command of the engineers, and the direction of the siege.

The enemy defended every house—three attacks by mines were carried in front, and every day three or four mines blew up several houses, and opened the way to our troops.

In this way we reached the Corso (the main street of Saragossa) lodged ourselves on the quays, and took possession of the university and colleges. The enemy attempted to oppose their miners to ours, but, little acquainted with this kind of warfare, their miners were very quickly discovered and stifled.

This manner of conducting the siege rendered its progress slow and sure, but less dangerous for the army. Whilst three companies of miners, and eight companies of pioneers alone, are occupied with this subterraneous war, whose results are so terrible, the city is continually kept on fire by the mortars throwing shells and fire-balls.

The attack had been made but ten days before the reduction of the city was considered as not far distant. More than one third of the houses were in our possession. The church of Our Lady of the Pillar, who by so many miracles was to save the city, was destroyed by bombs, and no longer tenable.

The duke of Montebello then thought it was time to take possession of the suburbs on the left bank, in order to occupy the diameter of the city, and cross his fire. The general of division Gazan, carried in a very brilliant manner the Swiss barracks. On the 17th, a battery of fifty pieces opened early in the morning. At 3, P. M. a battalion of the 28th attacked a large Convent, whose brick walls were 4 or 5 feet thick, and carried it. 7000 of the enemy defended the suburbs. Gen. Gazan advanced rapidly to the bridge, by which the rebels could effect their retreat into the city. He killed a great number, and took 4000 prisoners, among whom were 2 generals, 12 colonels, 19 lieut. colonels, and 290 officers. He also took 6 ammunition waggons, and 30 pieces of cannon. Almost all the troops of the line in the city occupied this important post, which had been threatened since the 10th.

At the same moment, the duke D'Abrantes crossed the Corso and blew up the colleges.

After these events, the Junta, in order to gain time and to give the people time to get over the horror and surprize with which they were struck, demanded a parley; but their faithlessness was known, and this deception was useless. Thirty more houses were carried by mines or pioneers.

At last, on the 31st, all the city was occupied by our troops—15,000 infantry and 2000 horse have laid down their arms at the gate Portillo, & have surrendered 40 stands of colors and 150 pieces of cannon. The rebels lost 20,000 men during the siege, 13,000 were found in the hospitals, and of these, 500 died daily.

The duke of Montebello would not grant a capitulation to the city of Saragossa; he only issued the following orders:

"The garrison shall, on the 21st, at noon, lay down their arms at the gate of Portillo, after which they shall be prisoners of war. The solders of the line who will take the oath of allegiance to king Joseph, and enter into his service, will be admitted into it.—In case their admission should not be granted by the minister at war of the king of Spain, they shall be prisoners of war and carried into France. Religion shall be respected. On the 21st at noon, the French troops shall occupy the castle. All the artillery and ammunition of every kind shall be delivered to them. All the arms be deposited at the door of every house and collected by the Ward Alcades."

The magazines of wheat, rice and vegetables found in the place are immense.

The Subscribers,

Take leave to inform their friends and the public in general, that the

EAGLE TAVERN,

IN THE CITY OF RICHMOND,

WILL hereafter be conducted under the immediate management of GEORGE TURNER, they having formed an engagement for this purpose. They entertain the most sanguine hopes that their unremitting exertions will entitle them to patronage and favor. Every comfort which necessity may require, or which taste may suggest, will be procured with avidity and pleasure. They are determined, if possible, to render the EAGLE in every department of their business agreeable to their guests, and a pleasant abode to the stranger.—Their solicitude upon this score has induced them at considerable expence to make some important changes in the arrangement of the rooms. They feel a great share of confidence in assuring their friends that they will meet with every convenience and attention that a house of this character is calculated to afford. Their bed-rooms are furnished with an entire new set of beds and furniture, with a suit of curtains to each, and the floors covered with carpets.

Their stables are large and commodious, (which will always be furnished with a full supply of the best provender the country affords) stands within twenty steps of the house, with a pump of exellent water at the door, for the purpose of watering and washing the horses.

They take leave further to state, that a COFFEE-ROOM has lately been established in one of the rooms of the Eagle, in which the newspapers from all the principal towns on the continent are to be seen. With these advantages, & these determinations in which they are resolved never to relax, they can but hope for the most flattering success.

USEFUL PROPERTIES
OF YARWOOD'S
Patent Washing Machine.

THIS highly useful Machine is found by experience to excel any hitherto in use. It will wash as many cloaths (by the assistance of one person) in an hour as can be washed in a whole day, without the possibility of injuring, fretting or tearing the most delicate article, and with less than half the quantity of soap. It occupies very little more space than the common wash-tub, and with the least care will not create any slop or wet—the construction is very simple and attended with little expence. A further description of its qualities is now deemed unnecessary, as it is presumed none will purchase without examining it.

We the subscribers do hereby certify that we have found, on trial, the above named Machine to answer fully the above description. Given under our hands this 5th day of May, A. D. 1809.
